

In Memoriam:

John Corrin Hutchinson, M.D, or “Hutch” to many, Professor Emeritus and Distinguished Fellow of the American College of Cardiology, passed away peacefully on January 14th, 2012. He was 84 years old. He is survived by his wife, four children and four grandchildren.

John C. Hutchinson was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, the son of a physician and naval officer. He attended the Blake School in Minnesota, and went on to receive both his undergraduate degree in Physics and MD from Harvard University in 1954. He completed his internship and residency at the University of Minnesota. He served as the Assistant Medical Director of the Cardiopulmonary Lab, U.S. Naval Hospital in Chelsea Massachusetts from 1959-1961. He came to UCSF in 1961 as a USPHS Trainee in Cardiology at the CVRI, and was a Research Fellow at the Cardiovascular Research Institute from 1964-1965. He was Assistant Clinical Professor of Medicine and Surgery at UCSF from 1964-1975, and Clinical Professor of Medicine and Surgery, UCSF, from 1975 until his retirement.

Dr. Hutchinson published numerous articles in the Journal of Thoracic and Cardiovascular Surgery, Lancet, American Journal of Surgery, Circulation, and contributed a chapter in The Handbook of Surgery.

Donations can be made to the UCSF Department of Cardiology in his memory.
